GENEROUS SUPPORT

Future Energy Chicago is made possible by the generous support of BP and the Exelon Foundation. Additional funding was provided by “Public Museum Capital Grants Program” Illinois Department of Natural Resources, Illinois State Museum; Anonymous; Elizabeth Ruth Bakwin; The Aunt Marlene Foundation; and Mr. Edward M. Bakwin.

About BP

Over the past five years, BP has invested more than $55 billion in the U.S.—more than any other energy company. BP is the nation’s second-largest producer of oil and gas and provides enough energy annually to light nearly the entire country for a year. Directly employing more than 20,000 people in all 50 states, BP supports more than 260,000 jobs total through all of its business activities. In 2012, BP donated $32 million to U.S. community programs. The company empowers its more than 20,000 employees across the country to become active members of their communities and participate in initiatives both small and large. As the diversity of its workforce and outreach activities continue to grow, so does its commitment to investing in America and its people. About the Exelon Foundation

The Exelon Foundation works to strengthen the social and economic fabric of the community by supporting innovative approaches to science, technology, engineering and math, diversity and tolerance, and the environment and conservation. The foundation makes grants to non-profit, tax-exempt organizations located primarily in communities that the Exelon family of companies serves, including Illinois, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Texas, and Massachusetts. The Exelon Foundation is an independent, non-profit philanthropic organization funded entirely by Exelon Corporation through shareholder dollars.

About the Illinois Public Museum Capital Grants Program and the Illinois Department of Natural Resources (IDNR)

The IDNR Public Museum Capital Grants Program is designed to help public museums in Illinois expand and upgrade facilities and create new exhibitions to help local museums meet their missions and provide a better educational experience for children, families and visitors across the state. In addition to administering the Illinois Public Museum Capital Grants Program, IDNR operates the state parks and state recreation areas, enforces the fishing and game laws of Illinois, regulates Illinois coal mines, operates the Illinois State Museum system, and oversees scientific research into the soil, water, and mineral resources of the state.

About The Aunt Marlene Foundation

The Aunt Marlene Foundation is dedicated to supporting our children and their dreams. The Foundation primarily supports educational and basic needs projects. It is through its work that we honor Aunt Marlene’s spirit by partnering with organizations that exemplify the Aunt Marlene Foundation precept “Gentle thoughts, kind gestures and resourceful solutions.” The Foundation has partnered with the Special Olympics, The American Red Cross, The Chicago Zoological Society and The Ride Janie Ride Foundation.
