Science Storms
This exhibit contains a Tesla coil on the ceiling of Balcony Level 3. When fired (three times every 30 minutes), this creates a loud noise.

Idea Factory
Children can experiment with hands-on activities, some featuring water. The Idea Factory has a variety of loud sounds and can become busy with children.

U-505 Submarine Exhibit
The story of the world-famous U-505 is told through videos that may have loud sounds and one area with floor movement.

On-board Tour
This tour features flashing lights and loud sounds. It is not accessible for wheelchairs or strollers.

Coal Mine Tour
This tour is not accessible for wheelchairs or strollers. The nature of this tour is to mimic a real coal mine; while it is safe to navigate, there are some dark areas during the tour. This experience also contains a short ride on a refurbished coal mine train and loud noises.
Colleen Moore’s Fairy Castle
Experience the enchantment of a fairy’s dream home. This exhibit is in a quiet, darker gallery.

The Art of the Bicycle
This exhibit tends to be quieter on most afternoons. In the mornings, this exhibit can fill up with school groups, so it’s best to wait until later in the day to enjoy this space.

Numbers in Nature: A Mirror Maze
This experience includes a floor to ceiling mirror maze that can be disorienting and has changing lights. There is a bypass which takes you directly to the end of the maze where you can enjoy the rest of the exhibit.

Ships Gallery
This exhibit tends to be quieter on most afternoons. In the mornings and during lunch, this exhibit can fill up with school groups, so it’s best to wait until later in the day to enjoy this space.

YOU! The Experience
Learn about yourself through more than 50 engaging experiences. This exhibit has some videos and a large-scale movement interactive that may be loud.

MOLD-A-RAMA™: Molded for the Future
Engage in the story of the beloved retro machines while learning about the science and industry behind mass production. This exhibit features machines that may make loud sounds.

Communication Book
Available, please inquire at the Information Desk.
