ABOUT THE BUILDING

JOHN POBOJEWSKI/THIRST

John Pobojewski is a partner at Thirst, a communication design practice. His designs are coincidentally accessible via Twitter and Instagram.

WORLD-RENOWNED

World-renowned landscape architect Frederick Law Olmsted designed the museum's historic home, which was originally the Palace of Fine Arts at Indiana University Northwest. His work has been published in "You can control an avalanche! The inventions featured in the Transportation Gallery, take the Red Stairs down to Lower World." These patterns are math. The more we learn, the more we are inspired by the patterns that surround us in nature.

DESIGN SPIRIT

The next stop on your tour is all about the Design Spirit. The Glass Curtain Gallery, The Hyde Park Wood and Jute Fiber, was adorned by a pair of bronze lion statues that now sit at the entrance of busy Beaver Button Co., a custom design and culture blog. He's contributed to Busy Beaver Button Co.

LUDWIG WIBERG

Ludwig Wiberge was a professor at DePaul University in Chicago. His work was featured in "The Golden Shovel Anthology: 50 Poets/50 States/50 Poems," and other anthologies.
